

Visual sketch

- A world map to select a country for trade and consumption information, the selected country and its trade partners will then change to new colors.

- Below the world map two cumulative graphs appear for the selected country showing the components of its exports and imports

- Below these graphs a pie chart is shown displaying the most important components of a country's consumption

